SPRING into FASHION

with this issue that features 6 brand new photographers

Fashion is something very close to my heart and as editor of VOLOGLAM I spend quite some time looking into the latest in fashion trends from all over the world... But of course VOLO fashion is different. How to make it fashionable when clothes are not allowed? Quite the dilemma we have here.

Well photography is such an art that it can conquer anything. We have tried to do our best putting together 10 editorials that showcase different facets of fashion-nude photography, ending the issue with a body painted set by one of our beloved female artists, Miriam Franco from Madrid.

However this issue is anchored by the incredible presence of our cover model, the nordic beauty Eleonor Frostegård. The cover set was shot by another female photographer Alexandra Svensson. This is Alexandra's debut on VOLO Magazine and we are super excited to add another top level femal photographer to our roster. Go Girls!!

Enjoy the issue and let me know your thoughts...

MARCIN BIEDROŃ

Marcin Biedroń was born in 1974 in Gdynia. He started photography in 2002 in Frankfurt. He feels best in commercial and lifestyle photography.

Marcin loves to work with creative people and believes in the strength of a solid team, but not running away from fresh blood. He is the owner of the photo agency A12 Team Photography & Prodcution.
He looks for inspiration in biographic movies and different music. He used to talk with a model long time before shooting to know her/him better and get this "real face" from them on pictures.

He is not a typical photographer artist. He believes that business and maintaining the company are important parts of photographers' work.

VOLOMAGAZINE.COM

STEPHEN WONG

Stephen Wong is a professional photographer from Sydney, Australia, who loves portrait and people photography.

"I enjoy working and interacting with people. I want to capture their personality in a photograph, not just their physical appearance."

I became interested in nude photography began when I discovered Andre de Dienes's classic book, 'Nudes, My Camera and I'. My interest remained academic until, a few years ago, a friend asked me to photograph her. The images encouraged me to explore more opportunities and to build my confidence and abilities as a photographer.

I love shooting with women of different shapes, sizes, and ages. Every woman has her own special physical and inner beauty, which is changing over time. Finding and capturing that moment of beauty can be an empowering and powerful experience for both model and photographer.

Recently, I won the Nudes on TAP 2016 portraiture prize, which is part of the Head On Photo Festival held in Sydney each year. Winning the award has been important because it's inspired me to create better photographs and to be less afraid of trying new artistic ideas."

When he's not behind the camera, Stephen enjoys indoor rock climbing, snorkelling and helping out as an instructor at his local Taekwondo martial arts club. He's also the editor of MONITOR, the Australian Photographic Society's digital division monthly newsletter.

ROSHIE

Roshie is a bit of an oddball, specialising in Fetish and Alternative modelling, she thrives off the bizarre, and this shines through in her work.

She loves taking risks, and finds art nude modelling especially exciting. There's just something about running around in your birthday suit in public, scaling trees and rocks, trying to create interesting shapes all whilst being on the lookout for unsuspecting hikers! Everyone should try it at least once!

Growing up in three different continents she was bitten by the travel bug early, and loves to move around for shoots. Often surviving on meagre amounts of money, she lives to create art and perform.

Enthusiastic about Cosplay, Kinbaku (Japanese Rope Art), Burlesque, Pole dancing, Fire performance, and with a latex wardrobe to rival even the most extreme fetishists Roshie loves the unusual, and aims to bring that forward into her modelling work.

Paolo Prisco is an Italian Fashion and Beauty Photographer, originally from Milano. Paolo Prisco currently lives and works in the South of France, at the borderline of the charming seaside country in the principality of Monaco.

A former philosophy student at Milano's Statale University (Università degli Studi), Paolo started his career as fashion and textile designer before shifting into make-up and photography. Paolo's photo studio houses a vast collection of vintage clothing and shoes.

Among the artists who influenced Paolo, are of great importance the painters Bacon and Hopper, the photographers Badulescu and Afanador, the writers Sartre and Camus.

"This concept is about the way a woman's body merges with natural environment. Unspoilt and untamed, she is fierce in her elements and completely at peace with her surroundings, she chooses what she wants to be and her dreams and imagination are intregal parts of her."

VARUN BONDWAL

VOLOMAGAZINE.COM

VARUN BONDWAL

Varun's stint with photography started by taking landscapes in India and he began portraiture later in Australia. He never looked back and feels there's much more inherent drama and character in the image of a person than of a building or landscape.

Varun worked in the visual effects industry which gave him an eye for art and an introduction to digital tools for manipulating images. He is a self-taught photographer, and his style of portraiture highlights female beauty and form, including dramatic and fantasy-style images as well as natural light portraits.

Varun's images have appeared in several online and print magazines. His process involves detailed pre-production and then shooting at his home-studio in Sydney. After that adjustments in Lightroom and polishing touches in Photoshop.

"For this shoot I chose to work with the model Anne Duffy because of the flair she brings to her work with her exceptional posing style, and I think this belongs in VOLO magazine because of artistic nudity portrayed in a strong style.

VARINIA shot by MIRIAM FRANCO

MIRIAM FRANCO

My name is Miriam and for almost 5 years I have tried to work on what I am passionate about and fully satisfies, photography, and makeup.

I used to an accountant and now I'm basically happy. The way is not roses, the truth, but patience, eagerness for improvement and perseverance I do not want to make my dreams come true, made my frames. I consider myself a searcher of moments, people, of corners, of gestures, of landscapes of concepts, of textures, etc. We are surrounded by beauty! And I love showing it through my photographs.

Sometimes I thought of specializing in some branch of photography, but my problem is that I would not know which one I live the most... so, I do it all!

I hope you enjoy seeing my work just as I enjoy doing it.

Welcome and enjoy!

VARINIA

"I have not been working for long on photography, but my experience without a doubt has been very intense. I worked on nude, beauty, boudoir, fetish and shibari photoshoots, although I feel myself closer with conceptual photography. I defend the female nude body, her freedom in the middle of nature, a wonderful mix, and the use of elements out of context also. I like to create my own and different proyects: pictoric, narrative and poetry concepts taken to photography field."
